

Homophones

Are words that sound the same, but have different meanings and different spellings.